

Networking remote locations using Windward Software products in a polling configuration with data replication

Windward Software Inc. products used in this network scenario include:

- four user client/server of System Five
- three user client/server of System Five
- single user of System Five
- three departments for each location (required for polling)
- one head office polling engine
- two polling remote clients

Polling stations will push specified information up to an FTP server as well as bring information down to integrate into the local copy of the database. Data is stored at each location so they can operate with or without an internet connection.
